Some Random Landscape Thoughts

Landscaping your dream yard doesn't have to be as stressful as you think.

Consider Your Lifestyle

Think about what you enjoy doing the most in your home. This is a great place to start because if you enjoy cooking and entertaining, then you need an outdoor kitchen with a bar area. Or, if you enjoy reading and doing yoga, then you need your own personal garden escape.

Visualize Your Backyard

Spend some time getting familiar with the available spaces available in your backyard. Decide what is important to you and what you would like to include in the space you have.

Use Hardscaping

Hardscaping can be anything from a brick pathway through your garden to a wood deck or concrete stained patio. Doing this can add structure and privacy to your outdoor space, no matter what size backyard you have to work with.

Include Seating

Don't be afraid to put comfortable, deep seating outside. When purchasing quality outdoor furniture, it is not difficult to find both comfort and durability.

Create A Covered Area

Stay shaded and protect your outdoor room from mother nature with a gazebo, an umbrella, or even a pergola. Covered areas can be a spot to entertain, read a book, or even be the center piece of your backyard.

Don't Forget Greenery

Dedicate at least a portion of your backyard to plant life. It can be as simple as a flower patch or as complex as your own garden for fresh fruits and veggies.

Tips For Designing Your Dream Backyard

LAYOUT

Whether your space is small and intimate or large and spacious, divide your backyard into different zones for the various activities.

VIEW

It is important that you have a complete vision of what you want to see from the main viewpoints as well as several different angles.

PATHWAYS

Even if you are dealing with a smaller space, traffic flow and pathways between fixed items need to be allocated.

COVERING

Gazebos and pergolas are an escape from the sun's rays on hot days as they enhance the appearance of your backyard.

LIGHTING

Low voltage lighting amplifies the décor and plays an important part in creating the right amount of ambiance to set the mood.

ENTERTAINMENT

Adding some elements of entertainment in your backyard are essential and including a TV will bring endless party ideas.
